Miss E. J. Guest,

212 George Street,

Belleville, Ont.

Dear Miss Guest:

I know that it will not be possible this year to proceed to the Ph.D. degree in the line of the new social service course. It is being arranged for the present on such plans that graduate work of that grade could probably not be taken, nor would it be possible to take the social service work without being at the University. Personal instruction and guidance will be a large element in the new course. If the course develops it may be that in the future it may be possible to have it counted for the Ph.D. degree.

With kind regards, I am,

Yours sincerely,

President.

President Falconer.
Toronto University.

Dear Dr Falconer:

Could one proceed to a Ph. D. degree, beginning this fall, in ~~that~~ new Social Service course? If so, how long would it take and at what probable cost for tuition? I have my B. A. degree from Toronto already with honours in English, History and classics, a specialist standing in English and History and a High School headmaster's certificate, and am one of the Government lecturers to the Ontario Women's Institutes. The work in rural Ontario presents at present many problems and possibilities. It would I suppose be necessary to give up my position as head of the English/History Department here in order to take the Social Service work at the University?

I have been following the development of this course with the greatest interest.

Yours very truly
Emily J. Lucast.
